

Cloverdale School surprised with a generous donation from Brooks Utility Products

Farmington, Michigan—On Friday, January 27, Brooks Utility Products, a Farmington Hills company surprised Cloverdale School with a $2,100 donation. The company raised the money through a bottle collection and 50/50 drawing. The money will be used to support the students' community-based experiences, as well as providing some equipment to meet students sensory and gross motor skill needs.

Principal of Cloverdale, Bobbie Goodrum, and several students welcomed Erick Rudaitis, Director of Engineering, along with Diana Smolar and Peggy Gardella when they dropped off the check. Students and employees were grateful for this incredible example of community support.

Brooks Utility Products is a supplier of metering related products for electric, gas and water utility industries. Cloverdale is part of Farmington Public Schools and is located at 33000 Freedom Road in Farmington.
